

"Beginners Music That Works!"

www.howardpub.com

Jay Berwanger holds both bachelor's and master's degrees from Towson University, Maryland. In addition, Jay has an Advanced Graduate Specialist diploma from the University of Maryland. He has taught both band and strings for the past 40 years and has recently retired from the Howard County Public School system in Maryland. His private students include many All-County and All-State Band Members. His wife is also a retired instrumental music teacher, having taught in the Baltimore County Maryland School system. Jay is also a professional trumpet player with over 1500 performances in the Baltimore-Washington area. His compositions for beginners are published by Howard Publications.